

Department of Environmental Management

Te Tari Whakahaere Rawa Pūtaiao Faculty of Environment, Society and Design

Te Wāhaka ki te Taiao, te hāpori Whānui me kā mahi hoahoa

LINCOLN UNIVERSITY
TE WHARE WĀNAKA O AORAKI

Hamish Rennie
Associate Professor | Ahoraki Tūhono
Head of Department

Hamish's research area is geography, environmental planning and management. He applies geographical and planning technical skills and knowledge to environmental problem solving. Hamish's primary focus is management of commons (e.g., oceans, freshwater, biodiversity), especially multi-layered commons.

F421 Phone: 423-0437 Email: Hamish.Rennie@lincoln.ac.nz

Tracey Shields
Enquiries and DEM Postgraduate Administration

Tracey has extensive knowledge and experience in Tertiary Administration including a background in postgraduate administration, and Tertiary processes.

F610 Phone: 423-0440 Email: Tracey.Shields@lincoln.ac.nz

Raven Cretney
Senior Research Officer

Raven is a social scientist working across political science and human geography. Her research explores social and environmental change, particularly following crises. She is particularly interested in how communities engage and participate in decision-making and policy change relating to post-disaster recovery, environmental issues and climate change.

F422 Email: Raven.Cretney@lincoln.ac.nz

Zack Dorner
Senior Lecturer | Pūkeka Matua

Zack is an environmental economist. His research investigates individual choices and behaviour change, particularly in an environmental policy context. He specialises in experimental economics and survey methods.

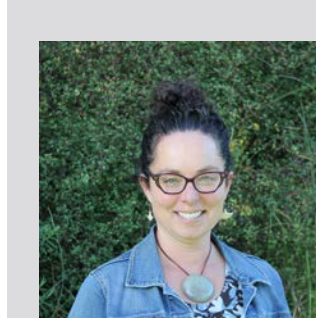

F405 Phone: 423-0431 Email: Zack.Dorner@lincoln.ac.nz

John Gould
Tutor | Kaiako

John obtained his MSc from the University of Alberta a number of years ago. He has a background in international development with a particular focus on rainwater harvesting for agriculture and water supply in rural Africa and China.

F809 Phone: 423-0489 Email: John.Gould@lincoln.ac.nz

Dyanna Jolly
Senior Lecturer | Pūkeka Matua

Dy's research is in the area of Indigenous planning and impact assessment. She is particularly interested in tools and processes that provide opportunities for transformative engagement and Indigenous influence in environmental decision-making.

F416 Phone: 423-0424 Email: Dyanna.Jolly@lincoln.ac.nz

Hirini Matunga
Professor | Ahoraki

Hirini has extensive experience with iwi authorities and Maori organizations in Maori resource management and planning, and international indigenous groups in the area of indigenous cultural heritage management.

F418 Phone: 423-0477 Email: Hirini.Matunga@lincoln.ac.nz

Roy Montgomery
Senior Lecturer | Pūkeka Matua

Roy has a Bachelor of Arts degree in Russian, a Master of Science degree in Natural Resource Management and a PhD in Theatre and Film Studies. Roy teaches and researches in the areas of urban planning, planning history, post-disaster community recovery and actor network theory.

F705 Phone: 423-0496 Email: Roy.Montgomery@lincoln.ac.nz

Sylvia Nissen
Senior Lecturer | Pūkeka Matua

Sylvia's research is in the area of environmental policy and youth politics. Trained in political studies, sociology and human geography, her research examines emergent forms of civic engagement in a context of crisis, including following disaster and in a changing climate.

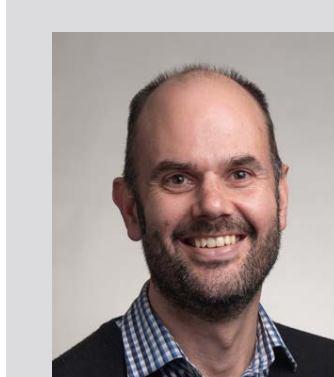

F420 Phone: 423-0436 Email: Sylvia.Nissen@lincoln.ac.nz

Oluwafemi Olajide
Senior Lecturer | Pūkeka Matua

Oluwafemi teaches in the areas of environmental planning, planning theory and professional practice. His research focuses on the intersections of governance and development, within the domains of politics of inhabitation, housing rights, dispossession, socio-spatial inequality, livelihoods, and socio-environmental justice. He is interested in intersectional and decolonial approaches.

F404 Phone: 423-0432 Email: Oluwafemi.Olajide@lincoln.ac.nz

Shannon Page
Senior Lecturer | Pūkeka Matua

Shannon researches and teaches in the area of energy and transport. His research focuses on greenhouse gas mitigation, particularly in the area of electricity generation, passenger transport and consumer energy demand.

F417 Phone: 423-0405 Email: Shannon.Page@lincoln.ac.nz

Steve Ulrich
Senior Lecturer | Pūkeka Matua

Steve is an ecologist with a background in environmental science and management. He has worked in coastal, and marine environments, South Island high country, and native forest ecosystems for local and central government. His research interests include biodiversity policy and management, marine governance, environmental monitoring and adaptive management, and environmental history.

F403 Phone: 423-0506 Email: Steve.Ulrich@lincoln.ac.nz

Waterways Centre

James Brasington
Professor | Ahoraki
Director

James' research focuses on the development of new methods to monitor and numerically model the feedbacks between river forms, processes and hazards.

F807 Phone: 423-0449 Email: James.Brasington2@lincoln.ac.nz

Issie Barrett
Lecturer | Pūkeka

Issie is a freshwater ecologist with a background in river environmental management. Her research focuses on development of river restoration and monitoring strategies which are both effective and realistic, with particular emphasis on improving ecological health.

F423 Phone: 423-0425 Email: Isabelle.Barrett@lincoln.ac.nz

Shelley MacDonell
Senior Lecturer | Pūkeka Matua

Shelley is a hydrologist in the Waterways Centre for Freshwater Management. Her research integrates process understanding of climate, cryosphere and catchment hydrology to quantify the contribution of cryospheric water sources to local catchments and to explore how they might respond to change.

F423 Phone: 423-0401 Email: Shelley.MacDonell@lincoln.ac.nz

Suellen Knopick
Administrator

Suellen has extensive knowledge and experience in Tertiary Administration including a background in postgraduate administration, and Tertiary processes.

F807 Phone 423-0450 Email: Suellen.Knopick@lincoln.ac.nz

John Revell
Technician

John works as the technician in the Waterways Centre.

F807 Phone: 423-0455 Email: John.Revell@lincoln.ac.nz

