Sport & Recreation
Lincoln University is proud to help grow your future.

As the longest running agriculturally based university in the Southern Hemisphere, Lincoln’s story begins with farming but it certainly doesn’t end there. As New Zealand’s economy has diversified so have we. What we are interested in growing is people.

Now more than ever, we are enabling our students to grow to meet urgent industry demands in areas such as food, fibre, sustainability, agribusiness and more.

At Lincoln, we offer great learning and growth through powerful applied research, deep industry collaborations, global connections and world-class learning environments and teaching.

As a Lincoln graduate you’ll arrive at your career globally connected, forward thinking and ready to shape tomorrow.

Lincoln is a safe haven that will offer you a wealth of opportunities to develop leading-edge skills here and in the real world. Just as importantly, you will become part of a thriving and inclusive student community, forging friendships that will last a lifetime.

We truly look forward to helping you grow.
Welcome to Canterbury

Our campus is located in the Lincoln township, a thriving village on the Canterbury plains.

Lincoln is small and very friendly. It boasts local pubs, great cafés and eateries, shops and even its own farmers and craft market.

Twenty minutes away is Ōtautahi Christchurch, which is transforming itself into one of the world’s most sustainable cities. Its rapidly evolving culture and energy makes it ideal for students.

And no more than a couple of hours from Ōtautahi Christchurch, Canterbury offers a huge range of exciting recreational options in areas of incredible natural beauty – you can bungy jump, hike, mountain bike, raft, surf, swim, play golf, shop, visit wineries and gardens, and so much more.

Choosing Lincoln University

At Lincoln, we’ve got a solid reputation for offering the finest, most industry-relevant learning programmes. And we’d like to make you a part of that.

As New Zealand’s leading land-based university, our specialised subject areas are all about harnessing the value of the land to help make the world a better place.

We’ve got strong industry ties to ensure that your learning lines up with what businesses need. Loads of our students gain work experience while they study, picking up real skills for the real world.

You can’t put a price on that. We’re the smallest university in New Zealand, which means a more personal learning environment, extra face time with lecturers and a friendly, village atmosphere.

Māori and Pasifika

Lincoln University is a great place for Māori and Pasifika students to gain an excellent qualification in a fun, friendly and supportive environment.

We offer a values based programme of manaaki (support) for Māori students called Manaaki Taura that offers academic support, internships and practical work opportunities.

We’re also committed to helping to develop the next generation of Māori and Pasifika leaders by offering industry-relevant, career-oriented programmes with support from Te Manutaki - the Māori and Pasifika Team.

International students

Our students hail from around 80 different countries throughout the world. This makes Lincoln University a truly global network and a diverse, exciting place to be.

We hope you will join us soon.

Lincoln and the Canterbury region

Ten minutes away is the town of Lincoln and the surrounding Canterbury plains.

Our campus is located in the Lincoln township, a thriving village on the Canterbury plains.

We hope you will join us soon.

Why Lincoln University?

At Lincoln University, we love our green and vibrant village full of like-minded people. There’s always something to get involved in and the vibe is super friendly. Here are just a few of the things available to you as a Lincoln student.

Join the club.

Looking for great ways to meet new people, broaden your horizons and have some fun? Join a club. The Lincoln University Students’ Association (LUSA) and the Whare Hākinakina LU Gym oversee all of our clubs and organisations. We can fill you in on what’s out there or even help you set up your own club.

Help is here.

Every student needs a little help now and then. That’s why we have support services for every area of student life. And they’re there for you whenever you need them. Whether it’s budgeting advice, help with a physical or mental health problem or you just want someone friendly to talk to, we’re on your side.

LUSA. They’re for you.

The good people at the Lincoln University Students’ Association are all about making student life the best it can be. Independent from the university, they offer impartial advice and look after your student rights. LUSA is committed to the Treaty of Waitangi and they help represent our Māori students at Lincoln. They also organise awesome and affordable events from lunchtime sausage sizzles to the legendary end-of-year Lincoln University Garden Party.

Follow us and keep up to date

Stellar coffee.

Where there are university students, there are also great cafés. And in our case, they’re well worth a visit or two. If you’re after a coffee to get your brain going, head to our fantastic student space, Grounded (which includes an awesome espresso bar), or our central café, Mrs O’s.

This way up.

Need a bit of pointing in the right direction? There are plenty of people on campus to talk to about career and employment advice. If you want to discuss job possibilities or need to find a part-time gig while you study, we’re here and ready to help.

Sport & Recreation

Want to turn your love of sport and recreation into a career? Practical course content, friendly lecturers and connections with various organisations will give you a foot in the door before you complete your studies.

This degree can open up a world of career opportunities in an exciting and fast-moving industry. The sector desperately needs more graduates and we offer a wider range of sport and recreation subjects than any other New Zealand university.

The career opportunities are diverse, from working in non-profit or professional sporting organisations to forging a career in outdoor recreation, public health, or the management of sports events and facilities.

The market value of the sector in New Zealand is estimated at more than $5 billion, with gains in productivity and health benefits valued at over $1 billion.

We’ll supplement your practical experiences with a theoretical knowledge of sport and society, governance, event and people management, and issues associated with managing community parks and sport and recreation services.

Our industry partners are well aware of the value of our programmes. Many organisations have hired Lincoln graduates and found them to be immediately work-ready, a quality that is supremely attractive to employers.

Event Management

Gain the expertise to pursue a career as an event professional in a range of industries. Event management is a growing area of specialisation at tertiary institutions throughout Australasia and the world. The significance of events has spread beyond the traditional realm of tourism, sport and the arts into the corporate world and a range of other sectors, including hospitality and wine and food production. Corporations, organisations and local councils appreciate the value that events and festivals bring to businesses and local economies as they help to facilitate their role in encouraging community development and engagement.

Courses

The Event Management major consists of eight courses – three 100-level courses, two 200-level courses and three 300-level courses. Courses selected at the 300-level cannot be applied to any other qualification.

Marketing

Develop the expertise to make the right marketing decisions for businesses, consumers, society and the environment. Become aware of the profession’s social, ethical, moral and legal standards and their impact on society. You’ll learn the concepts and tools to be a productive and responsible marketing professional.

Courses

The Marketing major consists of seven courses: two 100-level courses, two 200-level courses and three 300-level courses. Courses selected at the 300-level for the major cannot be applied to any other qualification.

Parks and Outdoor Recreation

The major in Parks and Outdoor Recreation is a multidisciplinary programme bringing together areas of social and ecological science to give a holistic approach to this field of study, equipping students for public and private sector roles in parks and reserves management, visitor services, recreation policy and planning or nature-based tourism.

Courses

This major consists of eight courses, which is one-third of a 24-course degree. Courses selected at the 300-level cannot be applied to any other qualification.

DOC Scholarship

The Department of Conservation (DOC) is offering a number of $5,000 scholarships to talented Lincoln bachelor’s degree students undertaking this major. DOC is looking for qualified individuals who can think and plan strategically for tourism on a landscape scale. DOC is also interested in graduates with multi-disciplinary skills in general management, working with iwi, whanau and hapu, visitor and facilities management and partnering skills to help DOC work with others to grow conservation. Outdoor Recreation Guide/Instructor
Kaiarahi o Waho/Kaiwhakaako o Waho

Outdoor recreation guides and instructors teach or guide outdoor activities such as rafting, kayaking, canyoning, skiing, hunting, climbing, caving and mountain biking.

Pay
Pay for outdoor recreation guides and instructors varies depending on experience, qualifications, and the type of work they do.

Pay rates for outdoor recreation instructors
• New outdoor recreation instructors with entry-level qualifications usually earn minimum wage.
• Instructors with higher qualifications can earn between $42,000 and $58,000.

Instructors at outdoor education centres may receive an allowance for gear.

Pay rates for outdoor recreation guides
Outdoor recreation guides are often paid by hour, day or trip.
• New guides or guides in training can expect to earn minimum wage.
• Guides with more qualifications and responsibilities can earn up to $28 an hour.

Guides may be paid extra for longer trips with more clients.

What you will do
Outdoor recreation guides and instructors may do some or all of the following:
• Plan outdoor recreation activities and instruction programmes
• Assess risks involved in an activity, taking into account the weather and different clients’ abilities
• Lead, guide and teach people taking part in activities
• Organise safety procedures including checking equipment, running rescue practices, and providing first aid if necessary
• Prepare recreation areas by doing things such as signposting or fencing off paths and hazards
• Organise bookings, transport, food and accommodation, and drive clients to activities
• Clean and store equipment after use
• Keep logbooks of their trips.

Working conditions
Outdoor recreation guides and instructors:
• May work long and irregular hours, including weekends and nights
• Work at locations such as national parks, mountains, forests, caves, rivers, lakes and the sea
• May work in hot, cold, wet, windy or dangerous conditions
• May travel within New Zealand or overseas to areas where the outdoor activities take place.

Personal requirements
Outdoor recreation guides and instructors need to be:
• Mature, responsible and able to stay calm in emergencies
• Able to make good decisions under pressure
• Patient, sympathetic and enthusiastic
• Confident in their own abilities and able to inspire confidence in others
• Excellent leaders with good communication skills
• Good at planning and organisation, with strong problem-solving skills
• Able to work as part of a team
• Alert and observant.

Useful experience
Useful experience for outdoor recreation guides and instructors includes:
• Paid or voluntary leadership of outdoor recreation groups
• Teaching, sales or customer service work
• Work involving contact with the public
• First aid and accident emergency work
• Conservation work.

Physical requirements
Outdoor recreation guides and instructors need to have excellent fitness and health. They must be strong as they may have to transport equipment, walk, cycle, ski or ride long distances, or take part in a range of physical activities.

What are the chances of getting a job?
Many outdoor recreation guide jobs seasonal
Your chances of securing a job as an outdoor recreation guide are best if you’re willing to work casually or for short periods of time. This is because many jobs are seasonal, part-time positions with tourism operators.

Some businesses employ overseas workers with specialist skills, such as mountain guiding or climbing, due to a lack of qualified guides in New Zealand.

Outdoor pursuits centres offer best chance of full-time instructor position
Outdoor education and pursuits centres offer instructors the best chances of finding full-time, year-round work.

Types of employers varied
Outdoor recreation guides and instructors may work for:
• Tourism businesses
• Ski fields
• Polytechnics
• Schools
• Outdoor education/pursuit centres.

Ranger

Apiha Papa Atawhai

Rangers protect, enhance and maintain conservation and recreation areas such as regional and national parks, forests, wetlands, reserves, and sites of cultural importance.

Pay

Pay for rangers varies depending on experience, qualifications and the type of work they do.

- Entry-level park or maintenance rangers in local or regional government parks usually earn $43,000 to $51,000 a year.
- Park or maintenance rangers with three or more years’ experience usually earn $45,000 to $88,000.
- Entry-level Department of Conservation (DOC) rangers usually earn minimum wage to $47,000.
- Experienced DOC rangers usually earn $47,000 to $65,000.
- Senior DOC rangers or supervisors with more responsibilities can earn from $56,000 to $89,000.

What you will do

Rangers may do some or all of the following:
- Monitor, manage and protect native wildlife, habitats and plants
- Control and monitor pests and weeds, and run native plant nurseries
- Patrol marine reserves and enforce compliance by-laws
- Make or maintain tracks, toilets, huts, signs, fences
- Keep park, reserve or campsite amenities clean, and remove rubbish
- Protect and restore historic sites
- Build and maintain links with the local community and iwi
- Assist and give information to visitors of parks or reserves
- Develop and oversee volunteer and education programmes
- Support and monitor concession holders and property licence holders such as graziers.

Working conditions

Rangers:
- Usually work regular business hours, but may also work evenings and weekends
- Work in offices and outdoors, in areas such as national or regional parks and wildlife reserves
- Work outdoors in all weather conditions
- May have to travel to attend meetings or spend days away from home working in remote areas.

Entry requirements

There are no specific entry requirements to become a ranger.

However a relevant Bachelor of Science degree may be useful. Tertiary students can major in parks and outdoor recreation at Lincoln University.

Personal requirements

Rangers need to be:
- Adaptable and practical
- Safety conscious
- Able to remain calm in emergencies
- Motivated, as they may have to work in difficult conditions, such as outdoors in bad weather
- Able to work independently or as part of a team
- Friendly, patient and helpful, as they deal with the public
- Knowledgeable about first aid.

What are the chances of getting a job?

Job opportunities for rangers best in remote areas

Demand for rangers is expected to grow due to a government increase in conservation funding.

- There are often vacancies for Department of Conservation (DOC) ranger jobs, but competition can be strong. Your chances of securing a job are best if you apply for ones based in remote areas.

Experience doing contract or volunteer work useful

You can improve your chances of securing a ranger job by volunteering for DOC or for council or community projects. Volunteering can lead to short or long-term contract work. Contract and volunteer work in the field is usually only available in summer.

Working conditions

Rangers:
- Plan and co-ordinate recreation programmes and events, social sports, competitions, and before-school, after-school and school holiday programmes
- Work with the community to design and develop recreation projects
- Prepare budgets and write reports and proposals
- Hire, train and supervise volunteers and staff
- Advise councils and commissions on recreation planning and policies
- Advise and assist community groups to develop recreation programmes and events.

Skills and knowledge

Recreation co-ordinators need to have:
- Knowledge of different leisure, sports and recreation activities
- Knowledge of hazard management, and health and safety planning skills
- A love of recreation and sport
- Budgeting, business management and marketing skills.

What are the chances of getting a job?

Pay

Pay for recreation co-ordinators varies depending on qualifications, experience, responsibilities and where they work.

Working conditions

Recreation co-ordinators:
- May work regular office hours, mornings or evenings, or weekends at events.
- Work in offices, churches, community halls or at sports grounds
- Travel to different recreation centres, sports fields, schools and marae.

Entry requirements

There are no specific requirements to become a recreation co-ordinator.

Types of employers varied

Recreation co-ordinators may work for a variety of employers, including:
- Out of school care and recreation providers
- Iwi and local authorities, such as city and district councils
- Schools and universities
- Sport groups, clubs, and recreation centres
- Government agencies such as Sport New Zealand.
At Lincoln, growing the future is what we’re all about. Meet some of our current and past students, who are well on their way to achieving their dreams.

Karla Wright-Akeli
Bachelor of Sport & Recreation Management

Rugby scholar Karla Akeli, an Aucklander, travelled south to study for Lincoln’s specialised sport and recreation degree and take advantage of the university’s renowned Sports Scholarship Programme.

“It’s great to be able to play rugby and study at the same time,” she says.

As part of the rugby scholarship programme, students receive training from Canterbury Rugby Skills and gain access to specialist programmes and facilities.

Some of New Zealand’s top rugby players have been part of the programme and Karla’s keen to become one of them.

She’s chosen to study towards a Bachelor of Sport and Recreation, as she’d love to have the opportunity to work in the sporting sector, “even without playing if I don’t go further with my rugby”.

While one of her ultimate career goals is to join the police force, she also likes the idea of teaching physical education at a high school.

As far as her studies are concerned, Karla enjoys group work the most.

“The lecturers are really helpful too and I like the friendships you make at Lincoln,” she says. “It’s such a small uni, everyone’s so friendly and you get to know people quickly.”

Involving herself in many extracurricular activities, she enjoys the events offered on campus and is a member of the Lincoln University Pacific Island Students’ Association (LUPISA).

LUPISA provides social, cultural and academic assistance and organises social events to support Pasifika identity on campus. It operates alongside the Lincoln University Students’ Association (LUSA) and Karla enjoys the opportunities it provides as she hones her sporting abilities and prepares for a career in the sector.

A student journey

The Bachelor of Sport and Recreation Management degree will open me up to be able to work in sport, whether or not I progress further in rugby.
Graduate pathways

Tammy Mehrtens
Bachelor of Sport and Recreation Management
National Training Manager, Netball New Zealand

Tammy Mehrtens was able to turn her love of sport and fitness into her dream career by studying at Lincoln University. “I have always played sports and had an interest in health and fitness – and the university has such a great reputation in the industry.”

Tammy says she particularly enjoyed the practical, hands-on aspect of the programme. “I loved getting out there – running events, volunteering for organisations and meeting people who you would ideally be working with in the industry. Having those contacts is really important and is one of the reasons I landed this position. I love my job and I really enjoy this industry.”

“My time at Lincoln was very positive – I learned so much and discovered opportunities for my future. I met a lot of great people and had access to fantastic lecturers and support staff.”

Jenn Benden
Bachelor of Sport and Recreation Management
Business Development Manager & Principal Consultant, Xyst

Jenn Benden received a Bachelor of Sport and Recreation Management from Lincoln University in 2013 and now works as a consultant. Originally from Vancouver in Canada, she searched for recreation programmes at universities all over the world before settling on Lincoln. “I was so delighted to find a course near Christchurch,” she says. “I had spent time there when the February earthquake hit, and I fell in love with the people and the city.”

Jenn says the Lincoln course was perfect, as she wanted a degree that would lead her into managing sport and recreation, rather than delivering it. “There were some good programmes around the world, but Lincoln had an excellent international reputation and I knew its small size would mean I was seen as a student, not a number. The programme had all of the components I was looking for and it’s beautiful in Christchurch!”

Jenn says the lecturers were passionate about the industry and willing to discuss a variety of topics outside of class. “This is the benefit of a small university. I can ask a lecturer out for a coffee and have a profound and engaging conversation that goes beyond the classroom curriculum. “Informal mentoring is natural for the lecturers at Lincoln, because they care about their students so much.”

Blair Minton
Bachelor of Sport and Recreation Management
Golf Development Manager, Canterbury Golf

Blair Minton attended Lincoln University to study for a Bachelor of Sport and Recreation Management. He graduated in 2013 and is Golf Development Manager at Canterbury Golf. During his studies at Lincoln, he particularly appreciated the lectures that explored the organisational structure of sports organisations. He also enjoyed the internships, which he says offered valuable vocational experience. “The classes gave me an insight into the industry structure and the practical course work enabled me to experience this. The internships gave me a chance to get my name known amongst key people, which eventually contributed to me getting my first industry job.”

Blair says his lecturers all had a passion for the sector and many drew on real life experiences. “The small size of the classes was a huge bonus as well. It meant you actually knew your fellow students and get to connect with your lecturers.”

Blair also appreciated the facilities available on campus. “As a student who travelled out to Lincoln each day from the east side of Christchurch, it was important that once out at the University, I had access to everything I might need. The range of study and food areas was excellent and I loved having access to the Rec Centre facilities.”

You’ll meet other students, learn what it means to belong to the Lincoln whānau and find out what to expect in your first lectures.

Semester dates
Semester 1 starts in February and Semester 2 in July, and you can start your study in either (as long as your course or programme is offered then), as well as Summer School which starts in November and again in January.

Preparation Week
Preparation Week is the perfect time for new and existing students to get assistance with completing to-do lists (including enrolment) and find your way around campus before the start of lectures.

Make sure you go to www.lincoln.ac.nz/key-dates for more info and the exact dates these exciting events take place.
