

Faculty of Environment, Society and Design
Lincoln University
Summer Research Scholarship

GUIDELINES

- Valued at $6,000 each (tax free) for a period of approximately 10 weeks.
- Students are expected to complete the project during the summer period between the end of semester two and start of semester one. Specific dates are to be negotiated with the supervisor.
- A Christmas/New Year break is also negotiable with the supervisor.
- Payment will be made via fortnightly stipend.

SELECTION CRITERIA

- Applicants must be currently enrolled at Lincoln University and be studying a Bachelor's degree to be followed by Honours, Masters or PhD.
- Priority will be given to students in their final year of undergraduate study, although second-year students may be considered.
- Applicants must be intending to undertake fulltime study in 2025 in the Faculty of Environment, Society and Design, Lincoln University.
- Selection will be based on the application, academic merit, skills (as listed in the project outline), and the academic referee's statement.