

LINCOLN UNIVERSITYCRAIGMORE SUSTAINABLES FARMING SCHOLARSHIP

The Craigmore Sustainable Farming Scholarship is awarded for supporting postgraduate study and research in agriculture.

We are looking for a student who offers research interests that align with our Sustainability Principles with the potential to conduct chosen research on a Craigmore dairy farm. We see this as an opportunity to establish an ongoing relationship with individuals whose research adds value to the agricultural industry.

Craigmore is a specialised investment manager of Aotearoa New Zealand, with a highly experienced team managing a mix of dairy, grazing, forestry and horticultural properties covering in excess of 25,000 hectares valued at over $1 billion. Founded in 2009 by two New Zealand family farmers, the Elworthy and Cox families, Craigmore remains committed to the sustainability principles on which it was established. We strive to behave in ways that leave the world no worse off for our actions and allow the generations that follow to continue to earn a living from the land.

Our strategy is to build a diversified business in which New Zealand has an established reputation in the market. Farming is Craigmore's most mature business, comprising 23 dairy farms spread from North Canterbury to North Otago, and one support farm. These farms are overseen by Business Managers and for efficiencies are grouped into pods.

In 2010 Craigmore launched its forestry business focused on afforestation of marginal farmland and is an increasingly significant part of the portfolio. The first specialist horticulture business was established in 2016 focusing on the areas where New Zealand generates significant export earnings – kiwifruit, apples, and grapes. With large-scale developments in Hawke's Bay and Gisborne this investment is also driving revitalisation of rural communities, bringing jobs and instilling confidence in agriculture.

Craigmore's head office based in Christchurch has a distinctive structure with its own financial, acquisitions, and operations specialists supporting the sector teams across the regions.

Our in-house finance team manages accountancy needs and an exclusive data warehouse that serves for benchmarking and reporting across the group. Our financial analysts specialise in producing budget and investment models including managing bespoke models to suit our needs.

The acquisitions team specialises in due diligence on prospective properties before handing over the management of the properties to the operations team. The operations team supports the management needs of the businesses including reporting, performance analysis, health and safety, environmental, and other business improvement projects.
